LOOKS LIKE SECOND PLACE. Indianapolis Will Probably Have to Be Content with That. Indianapolis is pretty nearly out of the race for the flag, and it is almost a certain-

There are five games to play with the Saints, after which Watkins and his men return for the wind-up on the home grounds. They open here with Milwaukee next Friday for four games. Then they meet Kansas City and Minneapolis each for five games, and close the season with St. Paul-four games. These must all be played in eleven days, and it will be next to impossible to beat the Millers out, as they will find Grand Rapids easy, and Columbia is not likely to action work. lumbus is not likely to again worry them as on the last trip East. Meanwhile Indianapolis has to go up against propositions each time, for none of the Western teams is easy. So the prospect of again landing the pennant is not at all flattering. Still, sec-ond place is not bad, considering the misfortunes of the season in the way of crippled players. The champions can then take solid satisfaction in beating Minneapolis out in the Detroit Free Press cup series, and thus demonstrate to the world that they are still the real head of the Western League. Three of these games will be played in this city. played in this city.

Baseball Notes. Carey is hitting the ball for Syracuse and his fielding is above par.

It is reported that pitcher Denzer, of St. Paul, has been sold to Chicago. Milwaukee has made Arthur Irwin an offer to manage the team next season. Lowney, the Grand Rapids short stop, is said to be one of the comers of the season. It is definitely settled that Selee will continue to manage the Boston club next sea-

McCormick's work at third for the Chicagos stamps him as a very promising youngster.-Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. The spurt of the Giants since Scrappy Joyce took charge is due in a measure to one great effect—every man on the team is hitting the ball. is hitting the ball.

Talk about distinguished names of players, says the Philadelphia Record, how are Lafayette Cross, Virgil Garvin and Napoleon Lajoie for a list? is unquestionably the biggest "find" of the year. Though only in the major League a few weeks, he is the most valuable first bas man in the country.

Manager Manning, of Kansas City, has signed a second baseman named Charles Watkins, of Hopkinsville, Ky. Menefee will be played in left and Campau in center. The Wilkesbarre, Pa., club has suspended Manager Howard Earle and he will be succeeded by Golkee, the famous first baseman of the University of Pennsylvania

Joyce and Tebeau helped each other out nicely in the last three games. Joyce's two defeats of Cincinnati put Cleveland almost in second place, while Cleveland's victories over Brooklyn sent the Grooms below New York into ninth place. The St. Paul Globe says: "Twitchell's umpiring is fair and clean. He has good judgment on balls and strikes, and his base decisions are eminently fair and impartial. He will make a success as an umpire with just a little more experience."

One never knows how many left-handed people there are in the world until one sees a baseball game. In these days more than half the men composing each club throw left-handed, bat left-handed or do some other old thing different from right. Dwyer is Cincinnati's winning twirler. Of the thirty-two games in which he has participated he has won twenty-four. He has hit only seven men and has made five wild pitches. He generally gets touched for ten hits in a game, but they are well scattered.

Ewing grieved more over the last loss at Philadelphia than any of the eleven. "That is the fourth game that has gone wrong in the ninth inning," said he. "It looks as if our pitchers couldn't get through a full game. I blame Dwyer for the loss. He showed poor headwork on both Hulen and Orth."

President Vanderbeck, of the Detroits, went to Milwaukee Friday to endeavor if possible to have next Tuesday's Milwaukee-Detroit game transferred to Detroit. Secretary Gross declined to accept the proposition, however, although he was offered half of the entire receipts as an inducement to give his consent.

The Tebeau and Rusie cases will cost about $2,300, and of this amount the league will pay about $1,800, while the balance, $500, is the amount it took to settle the Rusie matter. Rusie must pay it according to League ruling, though in the event that Amos and Freedman strike a compromise it is probable that the New York club will bear the expense.
